

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS REMIX

DEADLINE: SEPTEMBER 15th, 2016

Want to see your work in a brand-new light? Studio 303 is looking for two choreographers interested in having their short works or excerpts revisited by our two guest remixers Lara Kramer and Aurélie Pédron.

Re-interpreting, remixing or covering are rhetorical conventions in music and theatre where the same raw material can be radically re-shaped by a new director, musician or conductor. What happens if we apply the same principle to dance?

Each show will include two original works followed by their new remixed versions. Original works will be selected by the Remixers:

Aurélie Pedron is interested in marginalised populations and atypical spaces, in the relationship between body / materials / light, as well as in the audience-artist rapport. In addition to her art videos, her performance work has been presented by Tangente, Studio 303, the SAT, the Ateliers Jean-Brillant, Festival de Théâtre de rue de Lachine, Danse-Cité, Festival du Nouveau Cinéma, DARE DARE and by Blinding Light in Vancouver.*

Lara Kramer is an Oji-Cree choreographer and performer whose work is intimately linked to her memory and Aboriginal roots. Working with strong visuals and narrative, her work pushes the strength and fragility of the human spirit. Her work is political and potent, often examining political issues surrounding Canada and First Nations Peoples.*

Practical details:

- Performances will be held at Studio 303 Saturday January 28th at 8pm and Sunday January 29th 2017 at 4pm.
- Rehearsals/residency will take place afternoons of the week of January 23rd-27th 2017.
- Dancers of the original works must be available for a 15-hour residency with one of the remixers.
- Original works and their remixes should last 10-15 minutes each. Each evening will close with a discussion with the public.
- Studio 303 will provide original choreographers with 5 hours of studio time to remount or rehearse their original works.
- The choreographers and up to 3 dancers per project will be paid an hourly wage for rehearsals, as well as a performance honorarium.
